

HumanPoint EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT SURVEYS

HumanPoint's team can help you design and deploy a custom Employee Engagement survey that measures what matters most.

Empower your managers with insights on how to improve the employee experience so they can focus and prioritize their efforts. This will build a strong engagement culture which will improve your customer experience and profitability.

Benefits Include:

- Empower managers with current insights on their employee experience
- Provide Executives insight into their divisions and departments to proactively pin point issues
- Create transparency by communicating results to employees, and engage them in improvement areas

HumanPoint's skilled team in the field of Industrial Organizational Psychology has the expertise to help build a survey that captures areas of employee engagement and other workplace perceptions that best fit your needs.

To schedule a working session to discuss your upcoming project, please email us at info@human-point.com.

Overview

- Engagement surveys assess employee perceptions of the organization across multiple domains (e.g., leadership, compensation, etc.). HumanPoint works with the client to determine organization-wide categories that are important, and employees rate the organization on these behaviors.
- Results provide an aggregate of employee perceptions; these aggregates can be spliced and diced in multiple ways, such as by region, department, tenure, gender, and age.
- Conducting engagement surveys year over year allows you to see how your company improves over time and also provides direction for strategic planning and employee development needs.